

Who We Are

Parents, Teachers and general public who see the need to return to traditional social behaviors regardless of socio-economic backgrounds or cultures. We can see that the deterioration of our society is, to a great degree, stemming from the myth-olizing or exile of practicing decorum and traditional protocol by "the common Joe". This has lent to false ideologies in today's youth that can skew their perception of self-worth, purpose and capabilities and thereby cuts them off from the greatness that is attached to their name.

So, through the activities we offer we set out to reconstitute the practice of concepts like etiquette, proper inter-gender communicating and contact, how to interface on different matters as well as promoting the appreciation of correct behaviors and social stations for young men and ladies. These values are global and can be carried throughout the lives of the participant - better preparing them to successfully interact at home and abroad on any level.
